

Volcanoes

In Hawaii

Since May 3, more than 600 houses have been destroyed by the Kilauea volcano eruption on the Island of Hawaii (known as the "Big Island"). Thousands of residents have evacuated their homes. Adventists in Hawaii and the mainland are helping families in need. On Big Island, meals are being prepared, and churches have been used as shelter. ACS DR is currently working with FEMA and the Red Cross at one shelter; Adventists are also volunteering at another shelter in Pahoa dubbed "The Hub."

In Guatemala

On June 3, 2018, the Fuego Volcano (Volcano of Fire) in Guatemala erupted, causing large amounts of destruction to the surrounding communities. The eruption produced the descent of pyroclastic flows and fiery clouds with temperatures reaching 700 degrees Celsius. Ash columns were formed, reaching up to 10,000 meters above sea level and affecting communities as far as 40 kilometers away. The volcano is 27 miles southwest of the country's capital, Guatemala City.

This catastrophe has affected the lives of almost two million people. Recent reports indicate that 112 people have died and 198 are still missing. More than 3,000 residents have been evacuated – those living close to the volcano are still at risk because of the loss of their animals and crops. Damaged and blocked roads are cutting them off from services and support during this difficult time.

ADRA Canada's response team has delivered 50 tons of food, clothing, water, and other essential supplies to the isolated communities. The assistance will continue in the coming weeks as household hygiene kits and food baskets will be delivered to people who are living in makeshift shelters in the communities surrounding the volcano.
